STOCKING CAMP.

The subjoined letter from the President of the Rural Society to Mr. Latzina, Chief of the National Department of Statistics, bears on a subject of the highest interest to this country, since it is admitted that if our farmers and estancieros would put less stock on their lands, we should have fewer periodical complaints of 'epidemias' and losses. The state of some of the inside Partido camps at this moment is truly deplorable; flocks left to die on the land from the want of sufficient foresight to drive them out in time, and after this season's experience farmers may set it down on their tablets that ten squares of land on either side of a puesto is an insufficient run for even a small flock of sheep of say from 800 to 1,000 head. Four to five thousand head of cattle on even the very best league of land in the country seems to us as too heavy a stock, and it would be much safer for the estancieros to leave a wider marg in for their 'rodeos' to increase thu a to crowd into a square league of camp 5,000 cows. Mr. Pereyra, the President of the Rural Society, seems to have but a poor opinion of the outside lands for sheep, since he says that for such stock they are useless, an assertion not supported by facts, as there is scarcely a square league of those new lands that has not some cañada or other whereon a good flock of sheep can always be supported. We never saw fatter sheep in the Province of Buenos Aires than those at Kincaid's on the Rio Negro, fed on coarse high mountain land where none of the soft grasses are to be found.

As a rule, the largest stock that an estanciero can safely put upon a square league of new outside camp, is 1,[illegible]0 head of cattle and say 1,500 sheep; [illegible]nd the success of that venture depe[illegible]nds infinitely more upon the supply of good fresh water than on the grov[illegible]th or quality of the grasses. On [illegible]he new camps there is always grass which, although of a coarse har[illegible] quality, always holds out and alwa[illegible]ys supports the animals, even in the d[illegible]ryest months. Cattle on these outsid[illegible] lands may be estimated to give, with [illegible] fair care and attention, from 35 to 40 [illegible] per cent. increase, and sheep when th[illegible]ey become accustomed to such lar[illegible]ds increase wonderfully. The grea[illegible]t objection to sheep on such lands [illegible] is the unvarnably poor condition of [illegible] the wool, owing to the earth, sand [illegible] or dust that get s into the fleeces, an[illegible] the slovenly way in which the shea[illegible]ing is carried on at those outside lar[illegible]ds, destitute of the smallest or most [illegible]filling convenience.

B[illegible]t the experience of this year will re[illegible]ult in a more liberal so bocking of t[illegible]ese new lands, and hence th[illegible]e country will be a gainer. If there [illegible]were any real scarcity of camp in th[illegible] country, we could bet ter agree with Mr. Pereyra in his estimate of 5,000 cows to a square league, but with thousands and thousands of leagues of good pasture lands, stocked with only ostriches and deer, we see no sound reason why the cattle should not be driven out and the run of the camp be a thousand cows 'al corte' per square league.

The following is the reply of the President of the Rural Society to the questions put to him by Mr. Lutzina, Chief of the National Statistical Department, in reference to the numbers of cows, sheep and horses that a square league of land can feed, what time is required for the flocks and herds to double in number, and what is the present value of all the live stock in this province, all those data being required for a work on the Republic, which Mr. Latzina is compiling for distribution abroad:—

February 16, 1883.

To Dn. F. Latzina, Director of the Nat. Statistical Office.

The Board over which I preside has commissioned me to answer your note and supply you with the information you require.

In answering your first question I must begin by classifying the camps in three categories—first-class land, good and mixed, and inferior or average. A league of wire-fenced camp, with plenty of water, of the first kind, will support 4,000 to 5,000 head of horned cattle; the second, 2,500 to 3,000; the third, 1,500.

As for sheep, we can only refer to the first and second classes of camp, as, on hard or inferior camp, sheep cannot thrive. Thus, a league of wire-fenced camp of the first class will feed 30,000 sheep, and the same area of second-class land, 15,000.

As regards mares, I cannot give you equally precise information, as there are no data in reference to the breeding of this stock alone, it being always merely an accessory to the breeding of cows and sheep.

In ordinary years, when there is neither a drought nor too much rain to cause inundations, cows and sheep double themselves in four years, including consumption. Horses require at least six years to double themselves.

The annual profit on cattle-breeding is 12 per cent., and on sheep 15 to 16. As for horses, the profit on them would not meet the rent of camp suitable for cows and sheep.

Taking the number of live stock, as given by you, their value is:—

4,754,810 horned cattle at 20 0% each, equal to $950,962,000.

57,838,073 sheep at $30%, equal to $1,735,142,190.

2,396,469 horses, $143,788,140.

Trusting the foregoing data may answer your purposes,

I cordially salute you,

Leonardo Pereyra.
President.

THE REV. MR. SMITH, TESTIMONIAL FUND.

The retirement of the Rev. Mr. Smith, Scotch Pastor, after thirty-four years parochial or missionary duties, very properly affords his numerous friends in the Plate a decorous opportunity for the presentation of a well-merited testimonial.

Few men that we know of have served longer and better than Padre Smith; his esteemed name is a household word in our homes, and in homes by no means limited to the community of which he has been for such a lengthened period Pastor. His excellence and his ability exceeded the narrow lines of sectarianism or parochial limits. This much esteemed gentleman, in his periodical missionary trips to the camp, was as welcome a guest at the houses of the Catholic Irish sheepfarmers as at any of the estancias of the Scotch or English in this Province, or in the Banda Oriental. In all the varied walks of life (and they are many) that converge towards our office, we found him at his post, and oftentimes ahead of his post, doing good, helping the poor, looking after the unprotected, and shielding as far as in him lay the troubled, afflicted, or unfortunate.

To us it is a source of increased pleasure to testify to the sterling worth of this excellent good man, since not belonging to his church, or his community, our testimony may be accepted with the less reserve, and as a tribute to conviction which no difference of religion can disturb, and to an esteem that only long and valued services can purchase.

We invite our friends, therefore, to join in this well-merited testimonial, setting aside from the satisfaction it must afford Mr. Smith, it will always be an incentive to his successor, and spur him on to the discharge of services and duties not essentially clerical yet perhaps in every way as useful. It is not our purpose now to sketch Mr. Smith's career, or trace in brigat lines his long role of services in the Plate since the year of 1849, when he first landed on these shores. So pleasurable a duty will come, perhaps, more apropos in May next when he leaves for old England. Our task now is to advise our readers that at our Office lies a subscription list for the testimonial in question, and that at the head of that list are names of friends who belonged neither to his community or his church, but who are none the slower to appreciate true worth, whether it lie under the soutane or the plain black coat.

THE RIACHUELO.

Innumerable articles have been published in the daily papers denouncing the bad state of the water at the Boca and Barracas; not only it is bad, but in all probability it will remain so, if not worse, for some time to come.

Those who write should be sure of the cause to begin with, and then point out the remedy. The causes are numerous: First and foremost there are a great many vessels and very little water comparatively, and what little there is remains stationary, there is no regular ebb and flow of tide to carry away impurities. It is not many years ago that the River Thames was in a still worse state from similar causes. The refuse which the 'graserias' threw into the river is now stirred up by the Dredges, and it requires no stretch of imagination to comprehend that the perfume thus produced is not of roses; 'graserias' still exist, though out of reach of the National Municipality.

It has been the fashion for some time past to lay all the blame on the distillery of Messrs. Rocha, Devotto & Co., and naturally they invited the Press and everybody interested, directly or indirectly, to visit their establishment and convince themselves; the invitation was duly accepted by several representatives of the Press and the Vice-President of the Board of Health of Barracas, all of whom admitted that the cause must be searched for elsewhere.

Recently, Messrs. Rocha, Devotto & Co., imported new machinery from Europe in order to utilize the refuse, and now the maize out of which the spirit has been extracted is made up into blocks and sold for food for pigs and horses, after undergoing a process of extracting the acid in order that the food be palatable and wholesome; the fluid is subsequently mixed with twenty times the quantity of fresh water, and then allowed to flow into the rivulet, being thus rendered harmless. Until a communication is made with the River Lujan, a distance of about thirty thousand metres, which would bring a good supply of water, there is but little chance of improvement in the state of the water, which is never as sweet as could be desired. The Gas Company, in the Calle Defensa, could utilize at a small outlay their refuse as other Gas Companies do, instead of contributing as they do occasionally to annoy the neighbours with bad smells and diluting the river with quantities of tar.

ITALIAN HEROISM.

We are glad to accede to a request to publish the following "precis" of some recent remarks of our highly-esteemed colleague, the Patria Italiana:—

At 11½ p.m., on the night of Friday, the 17th inst., the steamer Tridente, Captain Vucassovich, and the little tender Oreste, Captain Cugliolo, were in the Roads of San Pedro. The first had just concluded the transhipment of passengers and cargo to the latter, and both vessels were resuming their way, the Tridente for Rosario, and the Oreste for San Pedro.

Suddenly, there was a shout from the Tridente of "man overboard!" It was the well-known estanciero, Mr. Thomas Wheeler. Immediately, the captain of the Oreste shouted, "full speed!" and she darted for a black spot which was barely discernible on the surface of the water about a kilometre off. The light of the moon enabled the young captain to see that the black spot was the man struggling for his life, and, with the rapidity of lightning, he jumped in to save him. A sailor who was beside him, and had received from him a brief order almost as he jumped into the river, flung out some ropes, and, in a few minutes; the Italian captain bore back to the deck the senseless form of Mr. Wheeler.

As soon as he recovered his senses Mr. Wheeler was removed to the Tridente, where Captain Vucassovich showed him all kinds of attention. Mr. Wheeler was quite himself again in a quarter of an hour and able to judge for himself of the peril he had escaped; he was again put on board the Oreste and taken to land, with his family, to whose arms he had been restored by the daring heroism of Captain Domingo Cuglioli. Bravo, gallant Captain! and thanks to you Captain Vucassovitch, for your kindness and attention.

STATE AND TENANT RIGHT.

Even in this country, where most of the well-to-do farmers are their own landlords, the following very able letter on the tenure of land in England will be read with interest. Mr Woodward's remarks have called forth so much criticism in the English papers that it is quite apparent the Tenant Right Question, so long restricted to Ireland, is now becoming the absorbing subject in England. The following is Mr Woodward's letter:—

Sir,

Before entering in general upon the important subject we are handling I wish to say that what I mean by "Freehold Tenancy" is only a detailed explanation of historical Tenant-Right. The terms are convertible; but as it was necessary to give the latter expression a name, I called it Freehold Tenancy.

One or two of your correspondents have lately made reference to 'fixity of tenure.' The phrase did not cross my mind in writing my pamphlet, nor have I the slightest intention of advocating it on any arbitrary or modern get-what-you-can grounds. But if your correspondents will open their eyes wide enough they will see that practically what modern language calls fixity of tenure has been in operation for generations among us, and is the historical mode of tenure in this country. On our large hereditary estates held by the true nobility of this land, a family pride has always existed, and still exists, in seeing a family remain, from father to son, for generations on an estate—the natural and instinctive feeling being that they had a right to remain there. This has been the custom, which has hitherto had the force of law. It is only the modern ideas of commercial policy which now occasion the necessity of giving such custom the reality of law, since the tendency is to rent men out of their farms.

These considerations bring us face to face with the principal problem of our time, viz., how, under a competitive system of renting, labour is to obtain its due share of wages. This is the practical side (stripped of all its theories and immoralities) of the Land Nationalists' arguments, and obliges us to look straight at the subject from a State point of view. We shall best see this clearly by tracing out the lines of constitutional law on the matter.

The State is unquestionably entitled to its land tax, which it ought never to have allowed to be redeemed, but which should have been periodically revised, according to the value of land—say, once in a generation. The State would then have been receiving its share of the unearned increment, and could have turned such fund to the best account it could devise in the interests of the nation at large.

The landlord would have been receiving his rent, (subject to such land-tax,) varying with prices of produce, as I have elsewhere explained, and would in this way have been sharing good and bad times with his tenants. He would have also been entitled to his share of the unearned increment, which he would have obtained through a revision of rents, probably every 21 years.

The tenant would have been free from any vexatious interference in the shape of notice to quit, except for sufficient cause, and would have been entitled to all the additional value he gave to his farm. Had this system been in proper working for generations past, we should now have had a properous tenantry, with funds of their own to fall back upon in bad times (instead of going for sops to landlords), and labourers' wages would have been a considerable percentage higher; some millions of money, also which they do not now possess, would have been their property, and pauperism would have been a thing unknown in the rural districts, except among the aged and helpless, whose relatives would have supported them.

Following out this constitutional system on its true lines, you will see the competition rent disappears. A tenant would only be liable to an alteration of rent at the end of a term of years, and this would be regulated by a disinterested third party. Hence farmers would be in a much better position to pay enchanced wages; and the point of grievance of the Land Nationalist is discovered, since rural wages would rise to their proper level. It is the competition rent which forces wages to merely a subsistence level.

The competition rent is based upon notions of absolute ownership in land, which Sir Frederick Pollock has lately shown have no real existence in English law. The ownership of land in England is a relative matter. And you will see that the before-mentioned constitutional system, which cannot be improved upon by any theories or arbitrary schemes, establishes an independence of classes, all mutually benefiting by the increased welfare of each.

It is when we turn our eyes to the town populations that the magnitude of the question of bettering the conditions of the lowest classes becomes impressed upon us. I have long considered that the State would be fully justified in buying considerable areas of land round our large centres of population for their benefit. But such would have to be done on sound principles and with a definite object in view, not merely on the basis of sentiment. To attempt to make the most helpless of the town-working classes successful tillers of the soil would be the wildest and most foolish sentiment. If some large town, however, would try the experiment of stopping its poor rates altogether (excepting for the aged and helpless), and of compelling every adult person within its area to subscribe to a State Benevolent Assurance Society, with its local branches, some good in the right direction might be established, and principles of thrift inculcated. Even the poor-rates of such town might temporarily be directed towards the establishment of such a society, until they ceased nearly, if not wholly, as regarded the future. In addition to this, improved dwellings, public baths, the closing of at least half the public-houses, co-operative industries, clubs and societies must do the remainder of the good work, with the assistance of the religious bodies. There need be no sentiment about State Interference in such maiters. If men and women will beget crime, misery and poverty, the State will be fully justified in its own defence, in interfering to put an end to such things, which exist at a ruinous cost to itself and great danger to the welfare of the community.

T. B. Woodward.

November 8th.

P.S. The principal fallacies in Mr George's work are the oversights that land has only a nominal value until it is cultivated, and that if the State owned it at all, an agent would be required in every parish to see that it was not thrown on its hands exhausted. Mr. George's "State" would be an organism without definite parts.

THE OLAVARRIA COLONY

Olavarria, Feb. 22d. 1883

To the Editor.

On Monday at 4 p.m., on a fiery steed and with borrowed saddle I commenced my journey from Azul to Olavarria, expecting to arrive there, as I did, about 8 o'clock at night.

As good luck would have it, my companion, the Provincial Commissary "de Ordenes" of the Policia, was in a great hurry to arrive there, so we brooked no delays, and though we had the railway and carriages, and even the picturesque car of the Russian colonists, or a good imitation of it by the Basque agriculturists, all at our disposal, we went on horseback as the pleasantest ways, and which suited my aims the best. We completed the journey of 10 leagues without any stoppages except when lighting a cigar, crossing the "Arroyo de Nievas" and fording the Hinojo. In this manner I was able to see in passing the bridge on the arroyo Azul and, journeying through the chacras of Azul, extending as far as the eye could reach in the direction of Olavarria, the valley that is closed in on the left by Sierra Bayaand on the right by the Sierra Chica. In the centre of this valley the railway runs nearly parallel with the cart road; the rails will very soon reach a little beyond La Tigra, situated some 5 leagues from here.

The panorama which meets the eye of a stranger is of a very uninteresting description, as only half of the road is shut in by both sides of the valley. On the Sierra Chica side, population is rather scarce, but on the opposite side of the valley two Russian colonies are located, and immense tracts of land are under cultivation, the golden wheat making a pleasing contrast with the green fields.

In 1878 Olavarria was founded by Col. Alvaro Barros, and in the same year, due to the utter annihilation of the Indians, it was first called a town. Its progress has been so rapid within the last two years, that no one would recognise in the prosperous town that exists to-day the few mud huts that then existed. There is no one at present who believes that Olavarria will ever be much. It is a small village, more important than beautiful, and with a better future than the present guarantees.

Its importance cannot be seen nor judged at first sight; a chat with one of its inhabitants will give the visitor a better insight as to its riches, etc, than any other means he may adopt.

Having arrived on Monday night I visited some of the principal business houses the same evening, which I found well stocked with every article of trade. The next day, Tuesday, I spent in the same manner, and on Wednesday visited Blanca Chica, which was formerly the spot where the Indian wigwams stood, later on turned into a barrack for our troops, and is now an estancia, belonging to Dr. Alfonso Laferrere.

In this region are situated the Russian-German colonies, the quarries and lime kilns of Sierra Baya, and the Penitentiary of Sierra Chica. Each one of these shall form the subject of a separate correspondence. It is useless for the present to speak about the cattle trade carried on to the South-west of Olavarria; or the prolongation of the Southern Railway, so I will confine myself to the town of Olavarria.

This town within a short time will receive a new impulse, viz: it will become the terminus of a railway, but as this will not last for more than a year, the inhabitants do not buoy themselves up with false impressions regarding its importance. Everyone knows here that the real foundation stone of this town is the agriculturist; and excellent lands are being split up into 'chacras' and sold at low prices.

Scarcely had the iron horse made his appearance amongst us, than the enterprising firm of Games & Co. erected a water mill that can grind 30,000 fanegas of wheat, and whose product this year will be 210,000 arr. of flour. The remaining 95,000 fanegas that comprise this year's crop would have had to be sent to some distant mill, had not Games & Co. erected a second one at the foot of the Sierra Chica, facing the Hinojo Colony. The arroyo Tapalque supplies the water, having a good depth and strong current.

Sr. Julian Games, one of the proprietors, proposes the very brilliant idea of illuminating the town by electricity by means of the strong current of this arroyo. This experiment is at present being tried in the U. States and England, but the results are not yet known. It is worthy of a trial and should not be abandoned, its initiators should not rest until it is turned into a reality.

It is not difficult, in a town such as this, to foretell its advancement and progress, as it is not very hard to prophesy that a "blooming infant" will increase in height as years advance, but here it is worth while to review the past, and the invasion of the town by the Indians under Dn Juan Jose Catriel, their Chief, in 1875 is worth reading.

No less than 2,500 savages surprised the town one morning at daybreak; crossing the river Tapalque they were silently approaching the houses when a neighbour, still living here, young, and rich, Sr Agapitro Guisasola, saw the danger. He tried to seize a carabine that belonged to a soldier and in the scuffle it went off without wounding either of them. The Indians hearing the report, supposed that they were perceived, and that the colonists were prepared for them. They stopped, and in place of falling immediately on the village as they had intended, they formed a circle round it at 1000 meters from the Plaza, and burned and sacked every hut they met with, cutting the throats of or taking captives the inhabitants. On the following day they made several attacks on the village but were each time repulsed. Having met with great resistance in their attacks, the Indians imagined that there were many more people in the place than there really were, and so gave up the attack. The number of men that so bravely defended the village was only 18, all armed. Some attacks have been made since, and the last one was in 1878; since then no Indians have made their appearance. The impressions made then are so deep and so lasting that all the old inhabitants still speak of the Indians in the Indicative mood, present tense, and as if the savages were encamped only a few leagues away, when in reality there are only a few stragglers prowling about, and these are outside what was then termed the 2nd line.

In the meantime civilization is making rapid progress, and refinement in the way of living can be seen at a glance. A good example of this is the fine hotels; the working man does not miss any of the necessaries that city life could afford him, though at the same time, Olavarria holds out little enticement to the tourist. However, much time must elapse before this town will be worth a tourist's visit, as the country is anything but beautiful. The mountains are low, without trees and without scenery. The country looks better viewed from the mountains than vice-versa, and even this can only be said by people who have never seen mountains.

ENGLISH WOOL TRADE.

The following able review of the English wool market for last year may interest many of our readers. It seems to us that the supply of wool in the world is ahead of the consumption. The River Plate is now ahead of every other country on the face of the globe in number of sheep—over one hundred millions—and the flocks are increasing 20 to 30 per cent. where the lands are not overstocked:—

"There was a time when the British farmer might look to wool for a considerable portion of his revenue; but the declining state of the market for the past ten years, and more especially a retrospect of the wool trade for the last twelve months, would lead to the conclusion that those days have gone by. It is two-and-thirty years since the price of home-grown fleeces ruled so low. The average price for this period has been 18¾d. per pound, and for the past year only 11¾d., the difference representing an annual loss of something like five millions sterling, or a quota of five shillings per acre on the cultivated land of England. This loss is principally borne by the keepers of Lincoln, Devon and other long-wooled breeds; but in a large measure the loss extends to all flockmasters, as, though the Southdown, Leicester and Shropshire, the Cotswod, Cheviot, Exmoor, Dorset, and mountain breeds, as well as those local engraftments latterly coming into note, such as the Oxfordshire and Hampshire crosses, are one and all prized and kept more for meat than wool, the fleece has always been looked upon as a valuable adjunct, if not the source that was to supply the margin of profit. Nor has colonial wool fared much better this year. The importations, it is true, have increased. We now import just three times the quantity home produced, or 460,000,000 lbs.; but the stagnation in the home market, and the depressed state of the yarn trade on the Continent, left importers little profit—in fact, it is questionable if the trade has not been conducted at a loss. In the first half of the year, from January to June—or, more properly speaking, the last half of the 'wool year'—prices steadily fell; during the succeeding three months an advance was made; but the close of the year leaves a stagnated market and falling prices. Still it is questionable if Bradford has not seen the worst of the depression that has all but annihilated our woollen industry. For the past few years it is notorious that Bradford manufacturers have been pulling against the tide at a considerable loss, in the hope of experiencing a turn, and it looks as if the turn is coming, if it has not come. True, little new plant is being put down—and this in itself is a searching test—and the local bankruptcies for the past year, too, look a little ominous. On the other hand, there has been little of that speculation and fictitious forcing of prices which invariably end in disaster. Though yarns have fallen in price, the quotations for the manufactured goods remain steady, thus leaving more marginal profit for manufacturers, besides indicating greater briskness in demand. The quantity of stuff used and sold is as large as ever—in fact, the imports of yarn show an increase of two and a half million pounds; but the prices realised are something like 30 per cent. lower than in the heyday of 1871-2. There is now greater demand for cheaper if more ephemeral garments, and Bradford weavers are bestirring themselves to flow with the tide. The patterns and pieces of ten years ago are now looked upon as antediluvian. Lustreless fabrics have carried the day; and so successful have our northern spinners been in adapting themselves to the current caprices of modistes and costumiers, that our French neighbours are already complaining that Englishmen are again stealing part of their newly-acquired woollen trade. On the continent, too, there seems an inclination to return to the old lustre fabrics in which Bradford excelled. The new French tariff has actually proved more advantageous than the old one; and though Germany and Russia in this respect treat us in anything but a just or liberal manner, in the best market of all—the United States—our spinners soon hope to have an opportunity of re-acquiring their old predominance. The undernote of President Arthur's inaugural address spoke unmistakably of tariff reform—a matter in any case which cannot long be delayed, seeing that under the present system American manufacturing houses have not increased one per cent. in the course of a decade. The population of Bradford in the last ten years, dull as they have been, has increased 2 per cent., whilst the average of the whole country has been only 1. In the end, in all probability, adversity will prove itself the best friend. Renewed exertions, whetted invention, stimulated technical education, and greater adaptability to cope with the changes of fashion, have already given a spurt to the woollen industry; and even should all the markets of the world be closed against the products of our looms, the sartorial requirements of our thirty millions of people, if only their tastes could be satisfied and custom secured, would more than suffice to keep seats of industry like Bradford in a state of prosperity."

THE COMET THAT CAME BUT ONCE.

(By E. W. Maunder, F.R.A.S, in the "Sunday Magazine.")

Newton had not long established his law of gravitation before he arrived at a strange discovery. Assuming his theory to be correct, he worked out by rigid mathematical processes the shape of the orbits which the planets must follow. Since we know that they travel in ellipses we should naturally have expected that an ellipse would be the resulting orbit, but instead Newton found he had arrived at an expression which embraced not one curve but four.

Of these four, one was the oval or ellipse, another the circle, but the other two were curves of a very different shape indeed, curves which did not enclose a space, but which had each two ends, which, however far they were prolonged, could never meet. And directly this fact was recognised, an unlooked-for truth was made plain. Comets, which had hitherto been regarded as perfectly lawless bodies, as irregular and uncontrolled as the thoughts of an opium dreamer seem to be, were now seen to be integral parts of our solar system. For though so many of them enter our system, but once, never having visited it before, never to visit it again, yet since these all travel, in obedience to the sun's attraction, in one or other of these strange unending curves, which are a necessary consequence of the law of gravitation, they are manifestly members of the solar family; without them it would be imperfect; without them the law of gravitation were but partially illustrated.

Let us follow in imagination the travels of one such comet through the untold ages of life. It may have started on its tremendous voyage whilst the earth was yet a star, or rather a miniature sun, instinct with fire and light, and all through the long ages during which the earth was cooling down and becoming fitted to be the habitation of living things, the comet slowly but steadily pursued its way. On the earth one form of life succeeded another, the sea overcame the land time after time, and time after time the continents flung off the yoke, and emerged with ampler borders and fairer scenes. At length the predestined prince came to his heritage, and man was made ruler over the perfected earth—too soon, alas! to forfeit his vice-regal crown by an act of flagrant rebellion. And still through all these ages, compared with which the whole lifetime of our race is but a moment, that distant comet held on its course, never swerving by a hair's breadth from the appointed path, obedient to the law, the self-same law that decrees the fall of the ripened fruit. But it was still far away, and still it pressed slowly but steadily forward, whilst kingdoms rose and fell, and nations multiplied and decayed. But gradually a quicker energy began to throb within it, and a stronger impulse drew it forward. The old slow pace could not suffice for its growing impatience, and it pressed forward with ever-increasing speed. At length it dashes across the orbit of Neptune; it has entered the solar system at last. No lingering now, no slow and halting pace; quicker and quicker it presses on, and Uranus is past. A shorter interval still, and glorious Saturn, with his noble rings and numerous satellites, is left behind, and a few years more and it shoots across the path of the giant planet Jupiter. The asteroids and Mars are passed by next, and now, filled with a passionate desire, it whirls along, brightening as it speeds, and flaming streamers flying behind it. Moving more quickly still, it crosses the orbit of the earth. Venus is reached next; traversing now in a moment of time space it once took a year to travel over, it rushes past Mercury. And now the bright goal is at hand, and quivering through all its mighty length with the fierce excitement, it speeds forward at a swifter pace still. And now, glorious with jets streaming ten thousand miles before it, and tail ten millions leagues behind, it hurls itself into the corona, the region of that strange pearly glow which in total eclipses is seen to surround the sun. And still it hurries forward, but not into the sun, its headlong speed is now far too great for even that mighty attraction to be able to check it in its course, and draw it in to itself. It ploughs its way perhaps even at the rate of a million miles an hour, round nearly half of the circumference of the sun, through the regions where the prominences play—those rosy flames that rise and rush with such terrific heat and force from the sun's glowing bulk; and its brief period of splendour is over. Away from the sun, it falls back through the corona across the orbits of Mercury, Venus and the earth, with ever-slackening speed and fading as it goes, it recedes towards their unknown space. Never again in all eternity will it approach our sun, never again will it know the fierce throbbings of that four hours' sojourn in the home of the prominences; never, too, will it revisit those places where it was wandering in the outer darkness when it first heard the imperial summons which it had thus obeyed. Slower, ever slower, will it travel out in the fathomless night, the solar system left far behind. Once and once only has it entered it, once and once only could it enter it. The earth, with its attendant moon, has revolved for millions of years, enjoying without cease spring, summer, autumn and winter. But this strange body whose winter was from creation, whose summer lasted but a few short hours, and whose second winter, so far at all events as it derives light and heat from our sun, shall last till heaven and earth depart like a vesture that is rolled together, whose movements are so unlike our evenly-moving earth, is no mere lawless wanderer, is no intruder on the happy family of the solar system; it is ruled in every movement by the self-same law that guides our earth. Without it, or bodies like it, gravitation would be but imperfectly illustrated, and but part of the homage due would be paid to our sun.

EDITOR'S TABLE

The hopes of rain inspired by the thunder and lightning in the small hours yesterday were quite illusory and the heat was worse than ever. Personally, we should have sunk under it but for the fact that lots of subscriptions, old and new, came in and distracted our attention from the thermometer. There is nothing like hard cash; it cools a man in Summer and warms him up in the Winter, and its effects in Spring and Autumn are equally beneficial. We don't mind another month's thundering heat, if accompanied by lots of subscriptions; but the drought has now reached such a pitch that, in the absence of Rain, copious subscriptions can alone enable us to bear up.

Mr. Casey's Loreto party start this morning at the truly unearthly hour of 4½ a.m., and are booked to dine at Mr. Turner's estancia at Loreto at 7 p.m—the first time that such a long journey has been attempted in this country in a single day. We wish the travellers a pleasant journey, and feel tolerably sure that they will sleep well after it, and won't be inclined to get up at 4½ a.m. again to-morrow morning.

The Congo brings news of a terrible accident on the Paris and Lyons Railway; 20 killed and 8 injured. There was also a devastating storm in the West of France last month. The Cadiz papers say that old Harry (Tamberlick) is not dead. Austria has recalled the Hungarian students in Paris to join the Auxiliary Army. The Notables of Madagascar intend to offer England the Protectorate of the country. Count de Chambord sick at Goritz, French Legitimists thinking of proclaiming Don Carlos Chambord's heir! (Another score for the Empire). Earthquakes in India and United States. Lord Dufferin's report on Egypt is against annexation.

The Guadiana took a pretty big mail yesterday. The afternoon was cloudy and tempered the heat to the travellers as they steamed away for the Outer Roads. In another year, perhaps, we shall have the Royal Mail steamers in the Boca, and "vaporcitos," "botes," and "carros" will be things of the past in connection with our ocean traffic.

The rails of the Western Railway, between Plaza Parque and the Once de Setiembre, are now being taken up. Some of the tram companies should get hold of the road; there is room for tram traffic in that direction.

The official inspection as to the seaworthiness of the pontoon Vanguardia is calculated to make the public open their eyes wide. The marine surveyor reports to the Captain General of Ports that he never before saw a vessel afloat in such a condition, that she is rotten from top to bottom, and that it is a miracle she has not gone to the bottom years ago. In face of this report, we hope the lives of the poor fellows on board the old hulk will no longer be wilfully exposed to certain destruction.

The "no-steamer to-night" nuisance deprived us of the Congo's mails yesterday till near dinner hour, when they came ashore from the fine steamer herself. This new "moda" of mail steamers entering very late is a most inconvenient one for the press and the public, whatever it may be for the agents and the Aduana.

Persons requiring exercise for their jaws after getting in a new set of teeth could not do better than read carefully several times a day, aloud, the following list of causes for trial in the High Court of Calcutta at the December Assizes:—

"Shamoldhone Dutt vs Shosheebhoosen Sill & anr.

"S M Baneymoney Dossee vs Hurrish Ch Doss & anr.

"Hurnundo Roy & ors vs Mirza Mossoom & ors.

"Roonfunnessa Bibee vs Abadoonessa Bibee & ors.

"Goopeenauth Roy vs Shib Chunder.

"Madhubkissen Sett vs Protab Chunder Ghose & anr

"Tarrucknauth Poramanic & ors vs Heeraloll Bonnerjee."

The public health will have another chance in the scale against it to-day, when the truly brutal custom of poisoning stray dogs in the streets with strychnine will be resumed. It is really monstrous to see such a thing allowed in a civilized city. What is that now famous body (four years established) whose delusive name begins with 'Society' and ends with 'Animals' doing? It obtained official recognition months ago, yet there is not a horse, or bullock, or dog, or cat the less tortured daily in the city. It is a shame. Was the Society constituted as a public laughing stock? If not, it should do either of two things—proceed to business vigorously, or retire from it and dissolve.

In reply to a letter from a highly esteemed subscriber in Montevideo, we beg to say that the letter in our possession is not for Everitt Everitt, but addressed to "Everett Everett Esq., care of Andrew Thomson, B. Aires." It came by hand last week. By the way, we have another letter (sent to us from Montevideo five months ago) for Mr George C. Holdaway; and, although we announced it at the time, Mr H. still holds away and has not yet appeared to claim the missive. What shall we do with it?

Mr. Nicholas Lowe paid us a visit yesterday and showed us the truly beautiful diplomas of honour, engraved in old Standard Court by Messrs. Stiller and Laas, for those who take part in the Rural Fairs at Mercedes. We have never seen nicer work. Messrs. S. and L. told Mr. Lowe that they have not yet found the 70,000 ounces in the back patio, as they have very little time for anything in the Whang the Miller line, and are afraid of a similar fate, in case they abandon the engraving stone.

"Look here," said the Governor to a high State official, "when are you going to pay me that $10?"

"Upon my honor, Governor, I don't know."

"Why, sir, the other day when I mentioned the fact of your indebtedness, you asked me where I would be Tuesday."

"Yes, sir."

"Well, wasn't that a promise that you would pay me on Tuesday?"

"No, sir."

"Why, then, did you want to know where I would be on Tuesday?"

"Because I wanted to know where you'd be, so I could make arrangements to be somewhere else"—Arkansas Guffaw

A New Orleans judge, riding in the cars recently, from a single glance at the countenance of a lady at his side imagined he knew her, and ventured to remark that the day was pleasant. She only answered: "Yes." "Why do you wear a veil?" "Lest I attract gentlemen." "It is the province of gentlemen to admire," replied the gallant man of law. "Not when they are married." "But I am not." "Indeed!" "Oh, no, I'm a bachelor." The lady quietly removed her veil, disclosing to the astonished magistrate the face of his mother-in-law.

A morning colleague declares that arms are now being purchased in this city for an approaching patriotic scrimmage in the province of Santa Fe.

There is great competition now for the post of "ayudante medico" at the different offices for public vaccination, owing to the number of pretty girls that go to have the operation performed.

There was a funeral Mass yesterday in the Socorro Church for the late lamented Miss Esperon. The sacred edifice was crowded in every part. The Archbishop, the Franciscan and Dominican Friars, and 20 nuns of different orders were present at the ceremonies.

Governor Roach signed a Tramway concession in La Plata yesterday for 100 years. Why not make it 1,000? We commend this news to our London colleague Horopath. Where are the passengers for the tramway to come from—"De Profundis Atlantici?"

There was a grand riding party of ladies and gentlemen at San Isidro on Tuesday night. One of the dandy horsemen got a heavy "cropper" which caused roars of laughter, but he was n't hurt much.

Messrs. Deck and Whiting, the great Gymnasium men, perfumed the whole city yesterday with a shower of cards impregnated with the most delicious scent we have ever sniffed, from the famed manufactory of Wenck of New York. We recommend our lady friends to try these American perfumes.

We hear with sincere regret that Mr. Albert Bussmeyer, so well known as professor of Music in Buenos Aires for a long series of years, died at Munich on the 29th of January, of a disease of the throat which compelled him to leave this city a few months ago.

We find the following in a recent exchange:—"About twenty newspapers are to be started in the French provinces, advocating the claims of Prince Napoleon to the Imperial throne of France. It is said that Prince Napoleon will take up the Socialist case as a platform. The Imperial party has been divided between Prince Napoleon and his son, Victor, whom the Prince Imperial named as his successor; but the tendency now is to place the claims of the father first."

OF

For the certain and radical cure of all those diseases which arise from

Impurity of the Blood.

It is very foolish—indeed it amounts to imbecility—to attempt experiments with inferior preparations composed of worthless drugs or of such indigenous plants or herbs whose ordinary effects are not confirmed by Medical Science, whilst the malady with which you are attacked is daily gaining ground is your system.

Putaside all thoughts of these and take instead and at once, a remedy guaranteed by actual experience and by the medical faculty all over the world, to be unquestionably the most efficacious in all Diseases of the Blood or Blood Poisoning.

Dr AYER'S Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla is a well-known remedy of 40 years standing, and is prescribed by all eminent physicians throughout the world. Hundreds of thousands of sick and infirm persons have realized the benefits arising from the use of this truly honest medicine; and they are so many evidences of its incomparable virtues and of the good results obtained by their faithful use.

The Rev. Mr. Smith

Testimonial Fund.

At the General Meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Buenos Ayres, held on the 31st January, 1883, attention was called to the near approach of the time when the Rev. James Smith's official connection with the Church and people of Buenos Ayres would cease. The propriety of some manifestation being made by the Community on this occasion, to mark its appreciation of a life's work, having been mooted and unanimously recognised, it was resolved that such manifestation should assume the form of a pecuniary gift to the Rev. Gentleman, and a Committee was at the same time nominated with the view of carrying such resolution into effect.

In pursuance of this resolution, the Committee beg to inform the Community who sympathise with them in the matter, that Subscription Lists for signature will be found at the undermentioned places.

Other Lists will be forwarded to some of the outlying districts of Buenos Ayres and the Oriental Republic. Members residing at a distance, desirous of taking part in this manifestation, and who may not have access to any of these List-sheets, can obtain them upon application to the Honorary Secretary, David Methven jun., Calle Reconquista 89, who will also be ready to receive any particular subscription towards the same object up to March 15th, prox.

CELEBRATED

Florida Water.

The richest, most lasting, yet most delicate of all perfumes for use on the Handkerchief, at the Toilet and in the Bath, delightful and healthful in the sick room, relieves weakness, fatigue, prostration, nervousness and headache. Look out for counterfeits, always ask for the Florida Water prepared by the sole proprietors, Messrs. Lanman & Kemp, New York.

For Sale by Perfumers, Druggists and Fancy Goods Dealers.

REFRESHING FRAGRANCE!

Neither the French, English nor German perfumes possess any refreshing or invigorating properties, their heavy, sweet smell quickly becoming oppressive and disagreeable; not so with the fresh floral fragrance of MURRAY & LANMAN'S FLORIDA WATER, which, after years of constant use, is found more refreshing than at the first trial.

A Fatal Mistake

Or one that may prove fatal, is using inferior Kerosene, which may be known by its yellow colour and disagreeable odour.

The only way to be perfectly safe is to use Kerosene 'Luxor,' guaranteed 140° fire test; it is white, entirely free from any disagreeable odour, gives twice the light, lasts one third longer, and is consequently as cheap as any kerosene in this market.

If through using a bad article when he can get a good one just as cheap, a man meets with an accident, he is scarcely to be pitied.

February 28th, 1883

Patacon	25.01
Cedulas A	100½
Cedulas E	85
National Bank Shares	105½

The market opened this morning with all the feverish symptoms of a liquidation day; the ring was crowded and operations followed each other in quick succession. Three thousand five hundred National Bank Shares changed hands for cash during official hours, whilst close on 2,000 were sold for the end of next month. The chief feature of the market is the abundance of money which is being offered on shares and the heavy balances which remain over. Little money, in fact, has been taken on the stock; applications were made by several operators at private banks, but no requests for advances were granted.

Although a heavy delivery of shares took place in the liquidation, rates were well maintained throughout. The stock opened at 105½ for cash, rose to 105¾ and closed at 105½. Operations for the end of next month ex dividend were effected at 102-102¼, and cum dividend at 106¾. The market closed with a weak feeling.

Operations in Cedulas were large, and over $250,000 were sold during official hours. A few thousand Series A changed hands at 100⅛, and 200,000 Series E at 84⅛-85; the market closed firm at 85 for cash. Operations for the end of next month amounted to 55,000 Cedulas; rates opened at 85 and closed at 85⅛. The market closed with a very firm feeling.

The liquidation of the month presented no difficulties, although differences are larger than many believed. Thus operations fell due to-day as low as 102½ and as high as 112, which shows a pretty stiff margin. The vencimientos both in Cedulas and Shares were smaller than those of last month, and speculation during February ruled dull all along. Many had anticipated much heavier vencimientos in Cedulas, but the large transactions of the month were effected at long dates.

The Gold market rules active and several operations were reported this morning at 25.00½ and 25.01. Operations were large, than usual owing to the liquidation of the month.

Mr. Nicholas Lowe, of Mercedes, was welcomed to-day. He states that camps in Mercedes have greatly improved since the last rains. 2,000 capones from his fine estancia were sold at $40 %., which is a splendid price, when we take into account the poor condition of all flocks in the inside Partidos of the West and North. The losses amongst the flocks have been large in the neighborhood.

The Provincial Government gave orders yesterday to register the titles of the 186 leagues of camp bought by Messrs. Salas and Cernadas from the Government of Cordoba in the year 1878; owing to the recent decision of the Supreme Federal Court part of this immense estate is within the jurisdiction of the Province of Buenos Aires. The title-deeds of Messrs. Oostendorp, Cobo, and others, who are in a similar predicament with regard to the frontier difficulty have now been registered. It is very desirable and at the same time expedient that the Governments of Buenos Aires, Santa Fé and Cordoba, should arrange this perennial difficulty of the boundary lines at once. In these columns the baneful results of the actual "statu quo" have been defined more than once. The three Governments should now appoint their respective surveyors to draw the boundary lines. Governor Rocha, who has centred all his attention in rural interests should act in this matter at once.

There were many enquiries to-day as to the name of the ship wrecked in the channel between Lobos island and Maldonado, but no clue can be found. There are very many complaints amongst ship-captains, owing to the permanent danger and risks occasioned by the many sunken wrecks in the Outer Roads. Our esteemed Prefect of the Port, Mr Mansilla, might apply some dynamite to these wrecks; they are a constant danger to ships. The most objectionable of all sunken wrecks is the Pride of Devon.

The fine Allan steamer Grecian will leave on Friday for Europe with the following cargo from this port:—

4000 bales of wool
2000 bags of linseed.

She will take in Montevideo

500 bales of wool
2000 salted hides.

The ss. Ayrshire leaves to-morrow for Bremen direct, with 1800 bales from this port,

200 bales from Montevideo.

The British steamer Nyanza, Captain Clark, left the Boca to-day for New York.

The crowd of Italians to-day at the Molehead is a sign of the times. Over 1000 Italians took leave of 400 friends bound in the Humberto 1° for sunny Italy. It was quite a a sight to see the embracing and farewell of friends and relations. The Italian element is growing very strong.

The British ship Cape Comerin, which left Greenock last October with a cargo of railway iron for the Great Southern Railway has not yet arrived. She is two months overdue, and there are many apprehensions as to her fate.

Messrs. Gimenez & Co. have obtained from the Provincial Government an important concession to start a tramway in La Plata. The concession is for one hundred years, and $1,000,000 will be invested in the enterprise.

The sales at the ring were as follows:—

Cedulas—
For cash A 10,000 at 100½
For cash E 204,500 at 84½-⅛-85
For March 31st E 55,000 at 85-⅛-¼

Sales, 5,200
Vencimientos, 42,670
Liquidation, 105½

The market welcomes Messrs. Tomkinson and Dungey's new monthly Shipping Circular. The circular is well got up, full of information, and invaluable to shipping circles. We publish several extracts of same lower down.

We call attention to Messrs. Bullrich's auction to-morrow (Thursday). Several splendid mares from Mr. Kemmis's great stud will be sold off by auction.

Mr Boadle took leave of his many friends on 'Change to-day. He leaves to-morrow in the Galileo for Europe.

The sailing of the R.M.S. Guadiana was the great business of the day. Mr Cadmus, the well-known wool buyer leaves in her. She took the following cargo:—

For Vigo—2,912 dry hides.
For Southampton—300 cases of meat.
For Antwerp— 957 bales of wool
4700 bags of linseed
4200 salted hides

13 first-class passengers, 3 second and 24 third class.

113,000 $f. in silver coin
£2100 in specie and bullion.

She will take in Montevideo:—

700 bales of wool
150 cases of meat.

A barraquero firm in the Once was dissolved to-day; the members of the firm have plenty of capital and experience, but there are not enough customers for all the barracas. The firm began business only three months ago.

Advices from Tucuman state that it has rained. The sugar planters are in good spirits as all their fears have been removed by the downpour, and a favourable season is anticipated.

During afterhours $F80,000 gold were sold at 25.00½, and 20,000 at 25.01. The exchange market rule very dull; some operations reported at 49 9/16, but only very small amounts.

There was not a single bid made for the two leagues of land in Azul offered on sale by Messrs. Bullrich and Co., this afternoon. The auctioneers made a great mistake fixing the upset price at $500,000 %c., per league; this basis of bidding frightened everybody away. Fix no price, give 8 years to pay, stipulate no interest, and prices of Government auctions may be paid; for lands offering by private parties.

Very many National Bank Shares were passed over to-day to next month at 1⅛.

The market will regret to hear that Mr F. Arias, the well-known Spanish saladerista, is seriously unwell.

The Galileo leaves to-morrow with the following cargo:

12,200 salted ox hides
5,500 do horse hides
400 pipes of tallow
1,500 bales of wool.

The Presidents of the Tourcoign and Roubaix Chambers of Commerce have forwarded notes to the principal markets of Australia, the Cape and River Plate, complaining of the actual process of baling wool. The canvas employed, made of jute, injures the quality and fibre of the wool, and a special request is made to the barraqueros of the wool-producing countries to give up Hessians and to employ some better article for baling.

During afterhours 30,000 Cedulas were sold for cash at 85. The market closed with buyers for cash at 84⅛, and for the end of March at 85½. About 2000 National Bank shares changed hands; the market closed at 105⅜ for cash and 102¾ for the end of March.

There was no hitch in the liquidation and everything passed off smoothly. Seven thousand shares and 300,000 Cedulas were dessand shares and 300,000 Cedulas were delivered to the liquidator. Several options were done for the end of the next month at 110, and some at 111. The market closed pretty firm, but the future of the stock during March is very hazy. There is a general opinion that there is very little room for a heavy fact, but the prospects of any heavy rise are nil, unless a syndicate is formed or a heavy bull enter the market with fresh capital.

The sales at afterhours were:—

National Bank Shares—
For cash 1,000 at 105½-¾-⅞
For March 31st 500 at 102¼ ex div.

El Jueves 15 de Marzo
A las 2 p.m.

Remataremos a la mas alta postura y sin limitacion de ninguna clase, los mas afamados campos de la Provincia de Santa Fe conocidos por Loreto distantes unicamente 25 leguas de Pergamino, 6 de la colonia Iriondo, 10 de la estancia Alvear (La Teodolina) 18 de la Estacion Tortugas del Ferro Carril Central Argentino, 13 de la Cañada de Gomez. Estacion del mismo Ferro Carril y entre el Ferro Carril de Clark, el proyectado ramal del F. C. del O. desde el Pergamino al Rio 5 y el Oeste Santafesino. Estos campos lindan con los famosos y conocidos del Venado Tuerto y con estancias, como la de los Sres Ostendorp y Ca., Diego Alvear, heredero de Armstrong y otros.

Los campos que acaba de vender el Gobierno de la Provincia a $40,000 $|c estan mas distantes de la Capital que estos que ofrecemos en venta.

Ademas con la rapidez que se estan construyendo los Ferro Carriles y ramales en la Republica demuestran claramente que en un corto tiempo la poblacion va a estenderse extraordinariamente y entonces toda la propiedad rural tiene que triplicar en valor, de manera que quien compre ahora se vendra al ultimo plazo el cuando llegue a venderse el ultimo plazo el comprador se encontrara con una propiedad valiosa.

La calidad del campo se garante igual al Venado Tuerto por lo tanto creemos inutil entrar en mayores descripciones sobre el terreno, sus pastos etc, ademas la persona que quiera ver y examinados pueda tomar la Galera que pasara gratis al Sr D. Eduardo Casey Reconquista num. 86.

El campo sera dividido en lotes de ½ (media) legua teniendo el comprador el derecho de poder comprar cuatro leguas por el mismo precio.

Todos los lotes seran vendidos sin reserva lo ultimo alzado al mas alto postor y el pago se hara una cuarta parte al contado y el resto en cuatro anualidades con el 7 o|o de interes.

Los planos de estos campos podran obtenerse del 20 del corriente Febrero en adelante tanto riendo a casa del Sr D. Eduardo Casey num. 86, o a nuestra casa Alsina 78.

NOTA—No olvidarse que el remate se efectuara aqui en la Capital Calle Alsina 78.

OTRA NOTA IMPORTANTE—En caso que varios compren un lote, se les escriturara separadamente a cada comprador hasta cien cuadras.

Remataremos a la mas alta postura y dinero de contado, por orden terminante de su dueño, los campos arriba mencionados, situados en la Secciones III y IX de territorios Nacionales letras D. y C. numeros 11, 16 y 20.

El area total se compone de 10 leguas kilometricas, que pueden facilmente dividirse en 2 fracciones, una de 4 y la otra de 6 leguas y si los interesados los desean en lotes de dos leguas.

Esta seccion es una de la mas pobladas, debido a la bondad de sus pastos y calidad de sus tierras, adecuados para la cria del ganado vacuno y lanar.

Este campo dista 3 leguas del pueblo General Acha, donde existen fuerzas Nacionales, y sabido es la importancia que tiene la inmediacion de un pueblo en estas alturas para que entremos aqui a demostrarlo.

Al estado mismo esta un Establecimiento, parte alambrado, del Sr. D Augusto Escandy, poblado por el señor Capdeville, con 2,500 vacas, 500 yeguas, y 3000 ovejas y los otros linderos son:

Augusto Escandy, Simon, Obligado, Hurtado y Martinez A. Mendez y otros.

Sin contar un numero crecido de nuevos pobladores que estan esperando que llueva para llevar las haciendas que tienen ya compradas.

Creemos por demas llamar la atencion de los interesados sobre la importancia que tendran estos campos una vez terminada la linea del Ferro Carril del Sud a Bahia Blanca.

Demostradas todas las ventajas solo nos queda decir que la base de ps. 30,000 $|c por legua fijada para la venta es sumamente baja, en vista de las recientes ventas que se han hecho de campos situados mucho mas afuera.

Los interesados pueden ocurrir a nuestra casa Alsina 78 para tomar mayores datos sobre estos campos.
